Memorandum for: Members of the Office of General Counsel

In drafting legislation on papers requiring statutory citations, I am informed by the House Judiciary Committee that Titles 1, 3, 4, 6, 9, 14, 17, 18, 28 and 35 of the United States Code have now been recodified into positive law. Therefore, the correct official citation on proposed amendments to these Titles should be the U.S. Code citation and not the Stat. citation.

The other Titles have not yet been recodified and therefore the U.S. Code citations are unofficial and the Stat. citation should be used. In the latter case, one can also use the popular name of the act followed by the Stat. citation.
